BRENDA CARTER BLESSINGS

June 10, 17 & 24, 2015

7:00 p.m. – 8:30 p.m. Eastern U.S.

*We take as our starting point the fact that the world, with all of its complexity
and mystery,
is a Single Thing, a unity that is vast enough
to contain multitude
and difference.*

*This is the heart of compassion
in action.*

The MAGI Process helps to fulfill desires and work with conflicts through a process of illuminating things as they are while simultaneously engaging with our desire for change, healing and transformation. The MAGI Process offers a uniquely creative process that affects the outer world as well as the inner world.

Whether the change we seek is inside ourselves or outside in the world, the MAGI Process takes the person as the starting point for any change. The MAGI Process understands that the world we see is dependent upon the filters we are looking through. The viewer and the view, the inside and the outside are intimately connected.

Conflict, dissonance and difference are fundamental conditions of life. If we know how to use them, they are neither friend nor enemy. They are allies or powerful forces for creativity and innovation.

This three-part series of classes is based on the revolutionary work of Jason Shulman, internationally-known modern Kabbalist, Buddhist teacher and founder of A Society of Souls.

Brenda Carter Blessings is Dean of Teachers and Senior Teacher of A Society of Souls (ASOS) The School for Nondual Healing and Awakening, based in the U.S. and Netherlands, which teaches a four-year training in Nondual Kabbalistic Healing, as well as the MAGI Process, Impersonal Movement and Work of Return.
